Mood boards	The individual mood boards are well presented and documented, and the final mood board captures a dynamic and approachable design style for the website. The combination of colours and images is also good and would be useful in the development stage.
Style guide	The style guide provided meets the requirement of this document. The colours, logo and imagery and user interface presented are perfect. However, I wonder why the logo contains 'for students'; this is unnecessary. More information can be included in the 'about us' menu to emphasise the objectives and goals of the website.
Page design	The report provided is good – especially how you annotated your sketches to show how your design would function. However, the high fidelity mock-up is empty and does not point to a final design direction for your code. For the final submission, remake the high fidelity mock-up and use little explanations how things work and showcase functionality.

Further comments
The report is good. However, endeavour to address the comments in the style guide and page design for the final submission.
